

Revisions to Estimates
Joanne Hsu, PhD, Director

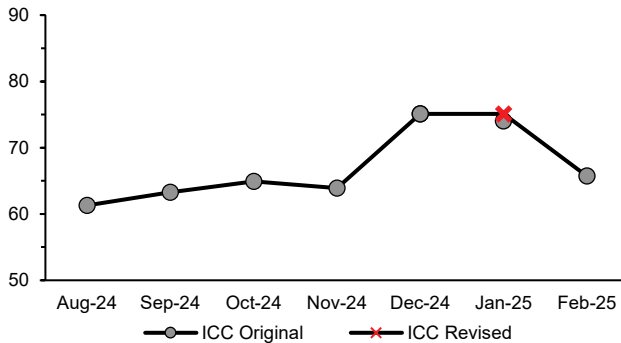

February 21, 2025

There was a minor technical error in the generation of the weights used to compute aggregate estimates for January 2025. We have since corrected the weights. Overall, the differences between the estimates originally released and the revised estimates are almost negligible, as seen in the comparisons below. The revised estimates in the February final release databook, along with all charts and tables that appear in the summary report, our main site (www.sca.isr.umich.edu) and our data site (data.sca.isr.umich.edu) reflect these revisions. The final February 2025 databook and data site also reflect revisions to parts of Table 46 (Expected Change in Home Values During the Next Year) between May 2024 and January 2025 to correct a minor processing issue. Data on the main site and summary reports were all unaffected by this issue. All revisions will be reflected in the next monthly update of the microdata repository (sda.umsurvey.org), which will occur in about a week as regularly scheduled. We are notifying users of the revisions in keeping with our commitment to the transparency, accuracy, and integrity of the data we provide to the public.

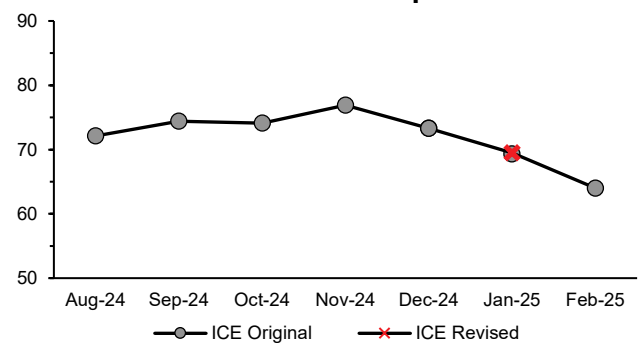

Index of Consumer Sentiment

Current Economic Conditions

Index of Consumer Expectations

Year-Ahead Inflation Expectations

Five-Year Inflation Expectations

