

Despite variation in views, inflation expectations remain elevated across the wealth distribution

